TEACHER CALLS WIFE CRUEL.

Says She Hit Him With Umbrellas and Threw Dishes.

Gamble Hall, teacher in the High School of Commerce, who was sued last week by Delia Hall for separation, yesterday filed in the Supreme Court an answer in which he asks for a separation decree in his favor and the custody of their two children. Ruth Louise, 2 years, and Gamble, Jr., 6 months old. Hall denies that he was cruel to his wife and accuses her of cruelty toward him. He says she abandoned him on seven different occasions during their married life and created scenes in homarried life and created scenes in hotels by hitting him with umbrellas, smashing electric light globes and throwing dishes at him.

He also says she filed a false com-plaint with the Board of Education

GIRL, 11, RESCUES WOMAN.

Swims 200 Feet and Tows 180 Pound Expert to Shore.

Minneapolis, July 6.—Kathryn Salmon, 11 years old and weighing less than 100 pounds, swam 200 feet out into Cedar Lake the other night and saved from drowning Mrs. Lizzle Seeken, whose weight is 180 pounds.

Immediately the little schoolgirl became the heroine of the Cedar Lake bathing beaches, but she didn't have much to say about her exploit.

"I had heard how drowning people sometimes drag down the ones that try to save them," she said. "I got it all fixed in my mind while I was swimming out to Lizzle that if she began to fight me or tried to get her arms around me I would hit her and try to stun her.

"I wasn't afraid unless it was that I might not save Lizzle. I guess she was too far gone to make any trouble for me."

CRADLING WHEAT IN KANSAS.

Old Fashioned Way Only Way in Muddy Fields.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., July 6.—W. N. De Water, who lives two miles south of town, has begun harvesting his wheat in the old fashioned way. He went into it with a cradle, just as his forefathers cut their grain, although with consider-ably less of a swing to it, perhaps, because of inexperience.

Mr. De Water found the ground so soft that he couldn't go in with a machine, and he was fearful that the wheat would be caught by rain or hall before the ground was dry.
"I just decided to do as I had heard my father tell and cradle it." said De Water. "I went to a hardware store to buy a cradle. They didn't have such a thing. I could't find one in the city. A travelling man for a supply house was in one of the stores. He said he'd get me one. I gave him the order and it just came."

Each edition of the Butterick magazines weighs 850 tons. The cost of postage each month amounts to more than $13,000.

One month's edition of these magazines piled one copy on another would make a stack 14,410 feet high, equal to the altitude of Mt. Rainier.

The total amount of paper used in a year by the Butterick Company is equal to seven times the area of Manhattan Island. It is twice the size of the District of Columbia. It is equal to the combined areas of St. Louis, Boston and Baltimore.

Reel this paper out in a strip one foot wide and it would encircle the world thirty times-or three times the distance from the earth to the moon.

A single copy of a But-terick publication can not possibly indicate the size and scope of the Butterick business, because the human mind can not grasp such a multiplication of units. It is probable that even experienced advertisers do not realize the mighty force which is working for them.
